

'Safeguarding is everyone's responsibility'

Our school is part of a project, which is run between schools and the Devon and Cornwall Police.

The project (Operation Encompass) has been designed to provide early reporting of any domestic violence incidents that occur outside school, which might have an impact on a child in school. This is done through a phone call to school following an incident.

We have two key members of the school staff at Sherford Vale School & Nursery, known as the 'Key Adult' and they are trained to liaise with the police and to use the information that has been shared, in confidence.

The Key Adults at Sherford Vale School are Mrs Susie Evans and Mrs Lisa Booth.

We aim to support each child who has been involved in, or witnessed, a domestic abuse incident. Operation Encompass was created to make sure that before school starts the next day, the school will be made aware of any child who has been involved in a domestic abuse incident the previous evening/night. This information, given to the school's trained Key Adult, enables the school to provide the most appropriate support, dependent on the needs and wishes of the child; and for that support to be available from the beginning of the school day.

In most cases the staff in school keep a careful eye on the child and make sure that appropriate action is taken should there be any concerns. The confidential information will only be shared with staff who need to be updated.

All schools have a duty to share any information with other organisations if they feel a child is at risk of being hurt. The Key Adult may contact other organisations.

The sharing of Encompass information from the police is not usually child protection. It allows the school to be ready to help your child straight away, and it means that parents know the Key Adult is aware that something has happened. Parents can come and talk to the Key Adults, we are here to support you and your children.

We are keen to offer the best support possible to all our pupils and we believe this will be extremely beneficial for all those involved.
